

One research ethics review. More Canada-wide research.

CanReview moves life-changing clinical trials across Canada, quickly.

When you become a CanReview participating site, you give your researchers access to a single, predictable, efficient research ethics approval process for Canada-wide clinical trials. Instead of delays and duplication, they can focus on what matters most: advancing life-changing therapies.

CanReview combines a distributed REB of Record model and Stream—an easy-to-use online platform—making it simple for researchers to submit or join multi-provincial studies, quickly add new sites to their trials, and collaborate across Canada, all while maintaining the highest ethical standards.

**For Investigator-Initiated studies, 28-day timeline assumes an REB's typical 2-week deadline prior to Full Board Meeting and an application being submitted just prior to the deadline. Timelines exclude revisions, if required. Supports available to facilitate timelines. High-quality ethical review is paramount. Timelines will be paused when warranted.*
